

TREASURES UNCOVERED!

Sandhills School
Summer Skills Camp

June 9 - July 8, 2011

The mission of Sandhills School is to provide a successful learning environment for students who learn differently and who benefit from evidence-based, multisensory instruction. Sandhills School is a resource to the community for information about language-based learning differences and ADD/ADHD.

OUR PROGRAM

Looking for ways to...

- Build your child's self-confidence?
- Maintain and enhance skills acquired during the school year?
- Provide opportunities for fun and adventure?
- Meet your child's individual academic needs and diverse learning style?
- Increase your child's success in school?

Then look no further!

Treasures Uncovered, a summer skills camp provided by Sandhills School, is designed to be an intensive learning experience that is both academically and socially rewarding.

Campers will receive language instruction taught by an Orton-Gillingham trained tutor. The focus will be on word attack, reading fluency, spelling, vocabulary and writing presented in a variety of multi-sensory approaches.

A written expression class will enable campers to apply these concepts in order to gain automaticity and apply the language concepts presented in the Orton-Gillingham class. Developing paragraphs, writing in a journal or creating an original presentation will also allow campers to record their new knowledge of the treasures they uncover.

Participation in a multisensory math class will strengthen number skills, reinforce a firm foundation and build confidence. The energetic, fun approach to math concepts will build students' confidence.

TREASURES UNCOVERED

Each day will take campers on fun and unique adventures as they uncover hidden treasures. Campers will also have the opportunity to create art projects and participate in activities related to treasures.

Older campers will benefit from some additional time in our computer lab. Technology training will allow campers to utilize technology and improve their typing skills. Our focus on hidden treasures will include studying creative arts, technology and writing skills, while infusing important character traits into curriculum.
